good detailed info for its size. lots of small towns, lakes, and road # shown. medium & large rivers are labeled. a has spot elevations bur could use more. a very good reference map, and seems better than the European produced similar unit.

I love these maps. This map folds well and is easy to read. I think it will last over time.

National geo maps are always the best, the plastic coating on them is helpful when your in the car and you spill a little something on it, alot of foreign county's don't have gps. if they do there are, they are not as in depth as the map

A very nice waterproof map featuring main roads, topography and landmarks. It will definitely go into my backpack.

Great map and resource for travel in Argentina. I have used it on all my trips there.

Has a lot of detail, though I wish the country border was a little better defined. Easily fixed though, I traced over it with a marker.

As with most National Geographic topographic maps, this is a very good resource identifying cities, beaches, monuments, national parks, World Heritage sites, waterfalls, ski areas, of spas in the target country. Highly recommended.

Used it daily for a month roadtripping Argentina.
