Wild Rescue: 4 (Red Rock Mysteries)

Synopsis

Watch out! The Timberline twins are on the loose. Bryce and Ashley are ATV-riding tweens from Colorado who unearth action-packed mystery and adventure wherever they go. From clearing the name of a local miscreant to thwarting a gold-stealing heist, the twins' growing faith and the strong example of their parents guide them through even the most life-threatening situations. With the trademark page-turner style used by Jerry Jenkins and Chris Fabry in the Left Behind: The Kids series, these fast-paced books will keep even reluctant readers on the edge of their seats. Readers will definitely get hooked by the unbelievable cliff-hanger at the end of book one, Haunted Waters. Perfect for ages 8-12.

I have always had a thing for mysteries. I was so happy to have found these books last year, because they're really good. You can tell they're very thought out, they're mysteries, they're Christian books, and there's a lot of adventure in them, so they're just perfect! Plus the main characters are twins, and I thought that was cool since me and my sis are twins too :) This is the second time I have read these books, they're that good! I love that they're not weird, like a lot of mysteries are, and everything going on is something that could actually happen (like there's no ghosts or fake stuff like that). And they can kinda get a little scary but not like gross-scary. So overall this is an AMAZING book series and you'll probably love it. I'd recommend to kids around 11-14ish. Or maybe over twelve because they can get a little scary--like omg-there's-someone-outside-the-window-scary. Or like robbers and terrorists scary. But they're really good and I can barely put them down!!

This is a Christian based series of books for children who are between the ages of nine and twelve years old, maybe thirteen. There are interesting story lines in the series that deal with the death of a parent or loss of a parent; the feelings of pre-teen children who are caught in trying to understand their own feelings about loss and the world around them. Their mother remarried; and has introduced them to God/church, so there are mixed emotions about this:right and wrong, telling the truth to a parent and vice versa. There is quite a bit of dialogue between brother and sister, who support each other, and share what to do in solving the current mystery. There is a means for how a step-parent may interact with his step-children. Their mother and step-father (who also has a teenage daughter) have their own secrets to deal with and how much they think they should tell the twins and younger brother about their deceased father; how do they become a real family. The twins are quick to pick-up on clues about adults and classmates. There are also situations about bullying; parent rules to follow; and mysteries to solve around what happens at school. I think the series is a good read for children who enjoy mysteries and the authors actually have "serious thinking" children, which is wonderful, it's real. I highly recommend these books for boys.

Jeffrey was a good day at work and Julian calendar year of college football season and Julian Richards and the things you've been in touch with me know if I was thinking of going out with the monster's university in your car to the gym today is my new phone and it ewJeffrey rogerson

Book arrived bent in half with pages creased and cover crumpled. Since it was a christmas gift we didnt have enough time to return it. Not impressed.

Yet another awesome story!! Possibly the most suspenseful one yet! I especially like the way the author works in the Bible lessons, perfect for kids, but good reminders for adults too.

My 10 year old grandson absolutely loves this book series.

Bought for my nieces birthday. She loves.

This book is so good I would recommend this book to all my friends and I love all of the red rock mysteries books
